The RDM Community Centre, under the management of Chris Janneke, is a grassroots initiative making a powerful impact in the Western Cape. The centre provides free essential services to unemployed community members, including photocopying, CV typing and printing, computer literacy training, interview preparation, and active job-search assistance. By removing practical and financial barriers that often prevent people from applying for work, RDM offers a simple yet highly effective employment solution. To date, more than 450 individuals have secured jobs through their support. This innovative, hands-on approach to community upliftment makes Chris Janneke a deserving nominee for the Western Cape Economy Innovation Awards.
